Odd-Fellowship.

The annual convocation of R. W. Grand Lodge of the United States of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, was held in Baltimore, on the 19th day of September, 1870. The officers of the Grand body were present, as were Representative Charles G. Cole, P. G. M., and Herbert R. Dodge, P. G. P., from the Grand Lodge of Rhode Island, and George H. Olney, P. G. M., from the Grand Encampment. The session was opened by prayer by J. W. Venable, R. W. Grand Chaplain. Deputy Grand Sir Isaac being absent, owing to indisposition, the Chair appointed Rep. John H. White, of New York, Deputy Grand Sir pro tem. Representative Cole, of Rhode Island, was appointed one of the Committee on Credentials.

The M. W. Grand Sir submitted his annual report, of which we give such a synopsis as will enable our readers to grasp the scope of its sentiments, and the importance of its statements, in advance of that full period which it will command from the members of the Order when it shall have been made public. The M. W. Grand Sir congratulates the Grand Lodge upon the entrance of the Order upon its fifty-second year with a most gratifying state of prosperity, as well in relation to the general administration as to the finances of the body. The last session, held in the city of San Francisco, is alluded to as one of the most beautiful and gratifying epochs in the calendar of the Order.

The attempt to plant the order in Germany failed only in consequence of the breaking out of the Franco-Prussian war. The scheme met the approval of Vice President Colfax, Senator Fowler, of Tennessee, Prof. Moore and others, and will undoubtedly be carried out in more propitious times. A new digest of the constitution, by-laws, resolutions, customs and rituals, has been prepared, which the R. W. Grand Corresponding and Recording Secretary endorses as meeting the wants of the membership. The growth of the Order in Michigan is, if not rapid, healthy and decided. In Massachusetts, its foundations are solid, its progress slow and sure, its success enduring and abundant. In New Hampshire there is an increasing interest, and progress is steadily onward. The Secretary and Grand Scribe of Rhode Island, John F. Driscoll, reports as follows: "It is with feelings of the highest gratification that I report the continued progress and advancement of the Order in Rhode Island, and the progress of the Order in the future by the time, it augurs greater prosperity in the past. The Patriarchal branch has doubled its numbers, and the Grand Lodge has increased its membership, both as to increase in membership, and a pecuniary point of view, and no true Odd Fellow seems to be satisfied until he can see a new and very successful condition of the Order in his own jurisdiction."

In Connecticut the Order is doing well. The reports from the southern and western States are full of promise and of illustrations of the rapid and substantial progress of Odd-Fellowship.

The next meeting of the Grand Lodge is to be held in Chicago, September 1871.

Current Topics.

A GAMING palace has been opened in Baltimore under a fair, and to the proprietor, most flattering success. While the affair takes the more on the momentary City in rather a questionable light, there appears no doubt, from the reports of the local papers, of the success of the opening. A grand banquet was served, and among the company who partook of it were many of the most distinguished men of Maryland, members of the State Legislature, judges of the higher courts, and others of like respectability. The total cost of furnishing this house is estimated at $30,000. This, we are informed, does not include various costly works of art, such as rare paintings and statues, and the dinner service, for which the round sum of $20,000 was paid to one European firm alone. Indeed, for splendor and completeness, the establishment is declared to exceed anything of the kind either in this country or Europe, not excepting the famous Casino at Baden-Baden. The description closes with the statement that after dinner the company high the bank beginning its career by a run of luck winning about $20,000, half of which was lost by a well known contractor.

AMONG the novelties of the coming lecture season will be the appearance of a Black Prince on the platform. One Henry A. Boardman, nephew of the King of Gines, and her presumptive heir, is now on a visit to Brooklyn, and is preparing himself to meet engagements to describe the habits, customs, superstitions, and barbarisms of his native land. Although "well up" in his own language, he is not quite so familiar with the English, but this, we are assured, will not very greatly mar the entertainment. He is a native of Galoon, on the west coast of Africa, an old slave trading station.

A TOUCHING incident is related of Mrs. Ulrich, niece of the Governor of Strasbourg, wife of Tagliani, and once herself a famous danseuse. Her son Albert was a soldier in the battle of Woeith, and reported slain. His devoted mother, searching the battlefield, found him asleep by a horse in a barn, kissed him softly and stole away so as not to disturb his slumber and refreshing slumber. "Tell Albert I am kissing him," said she to the pacing sentinel, as she left the soldier boy to his duty.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION. — The Cleveland Herald says its attention has lately been directed to spontaneous combustion, under the belief that many disastrous fires have been caused by ignition of dirty rags saturated with oil. Such rags, for instance, as are used in the cleaning of machinery and then thrown into a heap of refuse matter, sweepings, &c., &c. The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, &c., &c. has been the subject of spontaneous combustion, and he declared to be convinced had become, by actual observation, that rags saturated with kerosene oil, and then exposed to rain, would ignite, and that his orders were strict upon this subject, to the effect that no rags used in cleaning machinery should be thrown out of doors near the building. If it be a fact that such rags thus wet by rain will ignite it is very probable fires have been set by oil rags inside of manufactories, which, thrown upon the floor, have been wet by the sweeper on sprinkling the floor. Miscellaneous.

A little girl, seeing a litter of kittens for the first time, expressed her opinion that "somebody had shaken pussy all to pieces."

A dying Irishman was asked by his confessor if he was ready to renounce the devil and all his works. "O, yer honor," said Pat, "don't ask me that; I'm going to a strange country, and don't intend to make myself enemies."

Thieves don't have a very quiet life of it, notwithstanding they take things so easy.

A farmer was dividing his property among his four sons. In turn one was to board him, another to lodge him, a third to clothe him, and the fourth at his death was to bear the funeral expenses. After some little consideration, each seemed satisfied with his lot, except the fourth, who kept silent. "Are you not content?" asked the lawyer. "I don't know," replied the fourth; "I am thinking how much it would cost to plant the old man."

A pert little girl boasted to one of her little friends that her father kept a carriage. "Ah, but my father drives an omnibus," was the triumphant reply. "I require," said a sage of the Indian tribe of Pecos, "but three things to make me happy: 'What is the first?' 'I require a keeper of the second?' 'I require a wife, who is the third?' 'What is the fourth?' 'I require a philosopher, contemplative, a little more run.'

A young lady, being asked by a rich bachelor, "If you yourself, who would you rather be?" replied sweetly and modestly, "your truly."

Only a French ingenue could have engaged to her portrait painter for her husband that he might have something to remember her by. She told the artist: "I know very well that he will not forget me, but, as he said this morning, when he saw my picture he will be sure to think of me."

Robinson met Smith as he was going on board a steamer on the Mississippi, and said: "What is the Smith-up or down?" "That depends upon circumstances," replied the latter. "If I get a 10 over the boiler, I shall probably go up; if in the cabin, down."

Mr. G. was a most invertebrate punster. Lying very ill of cholera, his nurse proposed to prepare a young, tender chicken. "Haden't you better take an old hen," said G., in a low whisper—for he was too ill to speak louder—"for she would be more apt to lay on my stomach." G. fell back exhausted, and the nurse fainted.

The New York Evening Post suggests: "Runaway Kings and Emperors generally call themselves Count Somebody or something. Louis Napoleon might drop the Bonaparte and call himself Count de Paris." An enraged man tears his hair, an enraged woman tears her husband's.

"I am afraid, dear wife, that while I am gone, absence will conquer love." "Oh, never fear, dear husband; the longer you stay away the better I shall like you."

"What are you disturbing the whole house with your yells in this way for?" demanded a Saratoga landlord of a guest who he found last night seemingly in active pursuit of invisible foes and yelling at the top of his voice. "I'm shouting the battery of flet-dun," answered the guest, as he went ahead with his search and his yell.

On one occasion the Hon. Mike Walsh, of New York, who used to go to Washington with only a paper collar for a "change of linen," arrived at Jersey City from Washington. After going on board the ferryboat, some one inquired of Mike, "Is your luggage aboard?" "Yes," "Where is it?" "Well, here I stand, in the center of it," which was an accurate statement of fact.

EARTH CLOSETS.

I PORTANT TO ALL.

The earth closet is a perfect substitute for the WATER CLOSET. It may be used in any room, or in a building where the common privy is not desirable.

It is odorless, cheap and Simple.

The following letter to the Buffalo agents of the Earth-Closet Company was written by the Rev. A. H. Lewis, of Alfred Centre, New York, under date of May 5, 1870:

"I have made close fixtures of the 'Pull-up' pattern, put up in the form of a permanent closet, made over a simple box which holds about one barrel and can be emptied, beyond the cost of extra, was about one day's work by a carpenter and the little lumber needed—much less than even an outdoor closet of the old offensive style."

"It has been in constant use since November last by a family of four or five persons, the cost, incurred by the family furnishing all the earth required."

"The results may be summed up as follows:—1—About one barrel per month of superior fertilizing material. 2—The absence of all inconvenience from snow, ice, or exposure of any kind incident to an outdoor closet, and of all offensive odors incident to the ordinary 'water-closet.' 3—In short, after a trial of six or seven months, I can heartily recommend the 'Earth-Closet' system as being the cheapest, most effective, most convenient, and healthiest method with which I am acquainted. I would not exchange my own-made for a water-closet gratis, and an outdoor privy is not to be mentioned."
